

Information Technology at Columbia Law School
Loaner Laptop Program Lease Agreement

Information Technology at Columbia Law School ("IT") has laptops available for loan to Columbia Law students in need of a laptop for short periods of time free of charge. These laptops can be checked out for a of 7 days from the IT Helpdesk, which is located in room 731 in Jerome Green Hall.

By entering my information and using the program, I agree to return this laptop within 7 days, hence in good condition (unless the due date would be during the finals period, in which case the due date will instead be the day after my last final).

I give IT complete power to determine whether I am returning the laptop in good condition and complete freedom to determine the value of any damage I may have incurred to the laptop that requires monetary compensation.

I certify my understanding that should I fail to return the laptop, IT reserves the right to limit my access to computer services, including but not limited to LawNet, until such time as I return the laptop. Furthermore, Columbia University may report my theft of the laptop as it relates to my character and fitness in relation to my admission to the bar.

I also agree that I shall refrain from installing any software whatsoever (beyond plugins, patches, or updates to existing software) without seeking written permission from IT.

I understand that this laptop cannot be transferred to any other individual or group of individuals.

In addition, I agree that in no event will Columbia University be liable to me for any lost profits, lost savings, or incidental, indirect, special or consequential damages either arising out of my use or inability to use the laptop or arising from breach of this agreement. This shall apply to any use whatsoever I employ the laptop for.

I also certify that I shall not use the laptop in any way that shall obstruct or interfere with the rights of others, or use it for any improper, objectionable, or illegal purposes. Should I employ the laptop for such purposes, I certify that the Student Senate and Columbia University shall not be liable for my actions or the results of my actions.

I also understand that upon returning the laptop, all files will be deleted and that recovery of these files will not be possible.